Specialist Ochoa presented on the SFMTA budget presentation that was given to the Youth Commission in the previous term, which included information regarding the 2026/27 and 2027/28 budgets, and the impacts of the new tax measures passed to fund public transportation.

    b. SF Transit Riders Future of Public Transit Presentation
        i. Presenter: Dylan Fabris, SF Transit Riders Community & Policy Manager

Dylan Fabris, Community & Policy Manager for the San Francisco Transit Riders, presented on the outcomes of relevant measures and how it affects the SFMTA budget and future initiatives around expanding public transportation.

Commissioner Segall asked about the $10 million in equitable transit service changes in one of the measures, to which Fabris said that that funding must go to transit operations, but that SFMTA is also prioritizing hiring maintenance staff positions that were frozen during the City's recent hiring freeze. Fabris added that the average cost of running a bus for a year is $1 million, so this funding could potentially pay for the equivalent 10 buses, which could make a meaningful impact.

Commissioner Collins-Howze asked about how the measure to have at-will commissioners would be beneficial, to which Fabris said that they believe it would be risky placing more power in one person and would depend on if the Mayor supports or opposes public transit, and gave their personal thoughts.
