SUMMARY

TIDA is engaged with TICD and other city agency partners in exploring the addition of market rate housing units and commensurate affordable housing to the Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island Development Project.

This is the first informational presentation to the TIDA Board regarding this matter.

BACKGROUND

The Regional Housing Needs Allocation (RHNA) established by the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) and approved by the California Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) recognizes San Francisco's severe unmet housing need at every income level. San Francisco's current RHNA compels the creation of more than 82,000 units within the city by 2031.<sup>1</sup> The Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island Development Project ("the Project") has a significant role to play in meeting the City's housing construction mandate.

The contractual agreement between TIDA and TICD to implement the Project restricts overall residential development to a limit of 8,000 units. Separately, the development controls applicable to the Project are contained in the Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island Special Use District<sup>2</sup> (the "SUD") and the Design for Development document ("D4D"). The SUD and the D4D delineate the zoning envelope within which residential units may be distributed in a flexible manner across the Project, without prescribing unit types, sizes, allocation, or other numerical limits. As such, the approved buildable envelope is capable of physically accommodating substantively more than 8,000 units, assuming typical range of unit sizes.

Over the last few years, the City and Treasure Island Community Development (TICD) have collaborated to make substantial progress on the Project. To date, approximately 1,000 residential units have been completed along with significant upgrades to infrastructure and the delivery of new parks and other public benefits. The 2024 DA/DDA Amendments and approvals of $115M in Certificates of Participation (COPs) facilitated initiation of the Stage 2 infrastructure work which will enable parcel readiness for the next phase of vertical development.

The Stage 2 infrastructure timeline anticipated a return to market conditions more conducive for condominium residential unit sales by 2027. However, the condo market continues to lag, and best projections point several years out for the viability of such projects. Fortunately, the rental housing market is improving, creating a near term opportunity to advance neighborhood buildout and maintain forward momentum.

In effort to build more housing, respond to current market constraints, and maintain the forward momentum of vertical development on Treasure Island, TICD submitted a Large Development Project Application (PRJ) (“Project Application”) to the SF Planning Department on January 30, 2026.

PROPOSAL

TICD’s Project Application proposes to:

- Entitle an additional 1,400 to 2,800 residential units.
- Maintain the land use, parcelization, and building heights approved under the current plan.
- Maintain the existing 27.2% affordable housing requirement and the existing 5.0% inclusionary housing requirement for the project.
- Consider targeted urban form control amendments to optimize building massing for cost efficiency.
- Adjust parking rules for greater flexibility and allowance of residential guest parking.

The range being studied under TICD’s proposal is between 1,400 and 2,800 additional residential units, allocated as follows:

Approved Plan	+1400 Units		+2800 Units
	Overall	Net	Overall	Net
Market Rate	5,827	6,843	1,016	7,862	2,035
Inclusionary	307	360	53	414	107
TIDA Units	1,866	2,197	331	2,524	658
Total Units	8,000	9,400	1,400	10,800	2,800
Total BMR	2,173	2,557	384	2,938	765
Inclusionary %	5.00%	5.00%		5.00%
Affordable %	27.16%	27.20%		27.20%

RATIONALE

TICD's proposal as an opportunity to assess whether the Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island Development Project can facilitate additional residential units – including increased affordable units – to advance San Francisco's housing creation imperative.

The plan of finance for the overall TI/YBI development project relies on a certain proportion of ownership to rental housing units in order to fund infrastructure and support public benefits. Under this model, nearly all planned rental units have already been built or permitted, and additional rental units cannot be delivered under the current entitlements without compromising the financial feasibility of the overall development project.

Given the current circumstances, the City and TICD have two viable options:

1. Accept the likelihood of suspension of market rate housing construction on Treasure Island for an indeterminate period.
2. Pursue the potential for near-term market rate rental housing construction by amending the development entitlements to add residential units.

The City has invested significant resources to continue progress on the TI/YBI development project. Adding residential units to enable near term construction of rental housing maintains positive momentum on the project, supports the City's overall housing and affordable housing delivery goals, and increases the project's overall revenues and bonding capacity without supplanting the current revenue potential already committed to the project.

SCHEDULE

Leveraging near term market opportunities requires timely action. If a mutually beneficial path appears agreeable, TICD proposes to initiate an EIR addendum as soon as possible. The duration of these processes is dependent on the total scope of changes to project approvals, still under discussion. However, TICD seeks final adoption by the Board of Supervisors before end of 2026.

NEXT STEPS

- TICD submitted a Project Application to the Planning Department on January 30th. The Planning Department is reviewing the application for completeness and will subsequently assess the scope of, and timeline for, Environmental Review.
- TIDA, OEWD, Planning and other relevant agencies will collaborate to confirm scope of project amendments and identify necessary document revisions and approvals.
- TIDA and the Controller's Office are evaluating possible fiscal impacts to the City and related financing proposals related to the additional units and development capacity. TIDA, the City Attorney's Office, and outside counsel are reviewing and evaluating any associated risks and the legislative requirements for approval to determine an overall schedule and timeline.
- TIDA, the Planning Department, and other city partners are assessing potential impacts to Community Facilities needs and infrastructure capacity as well as the increased Authority obligation for affordable housing.

TIDA staff and its partnering agencies are evaluating the various City and legislative requirements for approval of the proposal. Final approval is contingent on multiple City processes; if some actions are determined to not move forward, the overall proposal will be adjusted or paused for further review.

RECOMMENDATION

None. Informational. TIDA staff are seeking Board and Public comment on the proposal concept, process and next steps.

Treasure Island Additional Density Plan

The Treasure Island / Yerba Buena Island Redevelopment Project (the “Project”) is governed by a Disposition and Development Agreement between the Treasure Island Development Authority and Treasure Island Community Development, LLC, originally approved in 2011 and amended by an Amended and Restated Disposition and Development Agreement in 2024 (the “DDA”). The Project is also subject to a Development Agreement between the City and TICD. The DDA includes a number of provisions that reference or rely on a maximum residential unit count of 8,000 residential units.

The design standards and guidelines applicable to the Project are contained in the Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island Special Use District (Planning Code Section 249.52) (the “SUD”) and its subsidiary document, the Design for Development (“D4D”). The SUD and the D4D establish a variable zoning envelope that permits residential units to be distributed in a flexible manner across the development, but do not establish a maximum residential unit cap. As such, the variability in the zoning envelope is capable of physically yielding more than 8,000 units, assuming unit sizes typical for the market and no changes to the Planning Code or the D4D are required to increase density. The 8,000 unit limitation derives only from the DDA, which is a contractual agreement between TIDA and TICD to implement the Project which was studied by the 2011 Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island EIR.

TICD is proposing a Treasure Island Additional Density Plan that would add approximately 1,400 to 2,800 residential units to the development program. This additional density can be achieved without any significant changes to the zoning envelope or horizontal development footprint.<sup>1</sup> The addition of 1,400 to 2,800 units will be achieved by delivering, on average, slightly smaller unit sizes – closer to market-standard averages – than would have been available under an 8,000-unit-maximum program. The addition of these units is intended specifically to accelerate the delivery of (smaller) for-rent housing product that may be more attractive to multifamily developers under current cost- and capital-constrained economic conditions.

If up to 2,800 units are added, these units would be comprised of 2,142 Developer Residential Units (2,035 market rate and 107 inclusionary [5%]), and 658 units on Authority (TIDA) lots. Together, the 658 Authority lot units and 107 inclusionary units will make up 27.2% affordable units out of the up to 2,800 proposed additional units, maintaining the same total percentage and mix of Authority and inclusionary units included in the original project.

The following is a summary of the changes to the project’s approval documents that would be needed to effectuate the Treasure Island Additional Density Plan.

- Targeted amendments to the DDA to the extent needed to implement the Treasure Island Additional Density Plan (including exhibits as necessary) (TIDA and Board of Supervisors approvals):
  - Maximum unit count of 8,000 units would be revised upward, with appropriate amendments to minimums/maximums, ratios, and/or milestones
  - No change to the project's 27.2% affordable housing commitment
  - No change to project's inclusionary commitment of 5% developer residential units
- SUD (TIDA, Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors):
  - Increase the maximum parking count of 8,000 dedicated spaces upward to reflect a 1:1 ratio of residential units to parking spaces
  - Additional provision of 2:1 parking for 3-bedroom units only
  - Additional provision of guest parking
  - No other changes to the Planning Code would be required
- D4D (TIDA and Planning Commission)
  - Revision to tower floorplate maximums or other maximum dimensions to increase efficiency
  - Revision to simplify parking-screening standards
  - Revision to permit 2:1 parking for 3-bedroom units only, and to permit residential guest parking
  - Revision to M lots retail street wall requirement
  - Revision to M lots tower setback requirement

Notes on PRJ Large Development Application Project Submission Checklist

The DDA and the Development Agreement are the principal documents that govern development of the Project. Among other things, the DDA contains a Jobs and Equal Opportunity Program (Exh. P) that sets forth the complete employment and contracting requirements for the Project, including First Source Hiring, SBE Participation and Prevailing Wages. For that reason, no First Source Hiring Affidavit is provided with the PRJ Application.

In addition, the SUD, by its terms, supersedes, in its entirety, all other provisions of the Planning Code that would otherwise be applicable to Treasure Island and Yerba Buena Island with certain limited exceptions listed in Section 249.52(a). For this reason, most of the documents or items listed in the PRJ Application Project Submission Checklist are not required as part of the Project and are designated as such on the PRJ Application. Except for the change to the SUD parking maximums described above, the Project applicant has not identified any other changes to the Planning Code or Zoning Maps or any other Planning Commission approvals to implement the Treasure Island Additional Density Plan.

Because the requested changes involve amendments to existing transactional documents, design standards and parking counts and do not provide details for any specific residential or non-residential project, construction costs for these changes cannot be estimated.
