Hi, Commissioners

I love the Department of Animal Care and Control, with which I have connected for over 30 years and as regards many animals. I don't think it could do such a stellar job except through its connection with the citizens of San Francisco, which takes place through the related commission. Government departments and civilian commissions complement each other, and the commissions keep the government accountable. There are undoubtedly ways to save money but weakening the connection between the public and Animal Care and Control is not one.

Sincerely

Nina Wouk
