Dear Streamlining Task Force,
Animals desperately need protection and people to advocate on their behalf! Many animals are suffering right now in SF (and everywhere, really). Please don't eliminate the Commission of Animal Control and Welfare and It's SF's only body dedicated to animal protection. The volunteer commissioners care deeply about the city's wild and domestic animals. The Commission has led vital progress on zoo animal welfare, cat declawing, bans on cruel glue traps, and stronger penalties for live animal markets (exposed by Animal Outlook earlier this year). We need to keep this dedicated body working for the voiceless.

Thank you for your consideration,

Kitty Jones (she/her)
