PRESENTATION

Crown Power, Inc. / BLV Housing – Opportunities for Veterans

Presenter: Sunil Suri, CEO

Mr. Suri began the presentation by sharing his background as a first-generation immigrant and business owner, stating that he now wishes to give back to veterans, inspired in part by his father's military service. Mr. Suri then provided an overview of various projects offering housing, employment, and education opportunities for San Francisco veterans including:

Two residential buildings for veteran housing on California Street and Mason Street. If implemented, the two buildings could house approximately 100 veterans.

Potential security and crowd control employment positions for veterans at Levi Stadium events. Mr. Suri further noted he operates a fleet of autonomous vehicles and veterans could be employed to provide a visible security presence and public safety support as passengers on vehicles.

Mr. Suri stated he has relationships with multiple universities including University of California, California State University, California Maritime Academy, and Stanford University. Veterans could enroll in educational programs while living in provided housing.

Commission discussion included questions about housing types (SRO vs. apartments), ADA accessibility, rent affordability, and level of coordination with veteran service organizations. Commissioners emphasized the importance of ensuring housing quality and veteran-centered services, noting that some veterans are reluctant to accept SRO-style housing. Mr. Suri said he is open to working with veteran organizations to ensure housing meets veterans' needs.

The Commission thanked Mr. Suri for the presentation and his commitment in supporting veterans.

COMMUNICATIONS

County Veterans Service (CVSO) – February Report:

- Gerardo Carr, CVSO acting director, reviewed February activities including benefits awarded, number of scheduled appointments and walk-in clients, claims filed, and number of Medi-Cal verifications. He also reviewed various outreach events conducted by CVSO staff during the month and shared two benefits advocacy success stories. [The full report is posted on VAC website.]

- Commissioners raised concerns regarding staffing shortages at CVSO and asked whether additional staff was needed. Gerardo stated the office currently operates with limited staffing but has advocated for additional staff based on workload and service demand.
- Commissioner Rusanoff requested greater focus on assisting veterans with discharge upgrades. He noted upgrades can allow veterans to regain eligibility for VA healthcare, benefits, and GI Bill education benefits. Gerardo responded that strengthening coordination between CVSOs and partner veteran organizations will support this effort.

VAC Executive Team Updates:

- Secretary:
 - CVSO recruitment update: Interviews are underway. It was confirmed by DAS that a veteran is included on the interview panel. Final candidate selection is expected by the end of March.
 - Commission Lapel Pins: The secretary showed final design pin mock-up. After receiving final approval from HSA, approximately 50 pins will be ordered with an estimated production time of 6 – 8 weeks.
- Vice-President:
 - Vice President Chan reported that Supervisor Melgar's office, in collaboration with the City Administrator, has completed a study on women, veteran, and minority-owned businesses that receive City contracts. Supervisor Melgar's office is reviewing the findings, and VP Chan hopes they will present the veteran-related data at a future VAC meeting.
- President:
 - President Barnickel thanked Commissioners Reissenweber, Perez, Rusanoff, and Chan for joining him last Thursday at the SFPD Small Business Advisory Forum summit and for visiting Supervisor Wong's office afterward. Commissioner Rusanoff shared valuable information on veteran housing with Supervisor Wong's chief of staff. The group then met at CA Senator Wiener's office to discuss veterans' issues, including the fact that California is one of the few states that taxes military retirement income. Senator Wiener's staff reported they are working on this issue. President Barnickel noted it was a productive day and thanked the Commissioners for their participation.

- Discuss ideas on how Commission can communicate on a monthly basis with Mayor, BoS, and HSA. Commissioner Perez led discussion. [DISCUSSION]
 - Commissioner Perez spoke about importance of establishing a consistent communication channel between the Commission and various agencies and governing bodies including the Mayor, BoS, and HSA. Suggested this is something that could be done on a monthly or quarterly basis – whatever the Commission decides. Envisions this as a report about Commission's current work and achievements. It was noted that maintaining a presence with HSA would also allow the Commission to provide updates and stay informed on matters affecting veterans services, especially in regard to hiring positions that affect veterans. Through regular reporting by the Commission, the Mayor and Board of Supervisors will keep informed about how the Commission is fulfilling its advisory role.

- Discussion continued with commissioners agreeing on importance of increasing its visibility and strengthening its connection to city organizations. Commissioner Perez offered to create a template report to bring to a future commission meeting. The commission secretary noted the report must be submitted following established procedure to place items on a meeting agenda.

OLD BUSINESS

- Summary of meetings with following District Supervisor Offices:
 - District 2, Supervisor Sherrill: VP Chan and Commissioner Reissenweber visited District 2 office to share the commission's concern regarding the Streamlining Task Force's recommended name change. Legislative aide Mick acknowledged the office had received the commission's letter on the same topic. He also said he'd look into adding information about CVSO into supervisor's newsletter.
 - District 4, Supervisor Wong: Commissioner Rusanoff met with District 4 staff to discuss structural discrimination in San Francisco with veterans using their VA home loans. He proposed Supervisor Wong generate legislation that would require all new HOAs to be in compliance with VA home loans. Supervisor Wong is waiting on a report with a formalize proposal. Commissioner Rusanoff will keep the commission updated.
 - District 8, Supervisor Mandelman: Commissioner Dacumos contacted District 8 office with her concerns about scams happening within the district's area that target elderly and veteran populations. The commissioner was connected with an SFPD officer who explained this is a very difficult issue because it is pervasive and hard to stop. Challenge for financial institutions is determining if request for funds is part of a scam or a real emergency. Commission Dacumos will look into this further and follow up with the police officer.

- Reviewed draft letter to Board of Supervisors with updated information about the veteran housing priority for inclusion in Supervisors' newsletters. Commissioner Perez led discussion. [ACTION]
 - Commissioner Perez noted she and Commissioner Rusanoff visited most of the supervisors' offices to let them know a letter will be sent with updated information about the veteran priority in the City's BMR housing lottery. Commissioners discussed importance of preserving the name, "Veterans Affairs Commission" and rejecting recommendation by the Streamlining Task Force to change to, "Veterans Affairs Council." Commissioners were encouraged to give public comment at the upcoming BoS Rules Committee as a whole meeting on Tuesday, March 17 at 3:00pm (During the regular Board of Supervisors meeting.)
