Title TBD

This exhibition is a collaboratively curated exhibitions with our partners at LOOP Alternative Space in Seoul, South Korea.

This exhibition explores climate change and sustainability, touching on ancestral connections to places in flux, and alternative models of local agriculture. Artists in the exhibition are asked to think expansively and critically about climate change: the effects it has on communities, what are the other models to be explored, and what does a future look like as our world changes.

The exhibition expands upon LOOP's year-long programming around climate change and includes artists from South Korea and the Bay Area.

Key concepts: sustainability, legacy, climate change, speculative futures
