Design Concept

Please provide a succinct description of the design concept or idea (not the functional goals). Attach additional page if needed.

Perforated metal panels are used to create a visual screen around the “Pump Station”(utility yard). Each panel is “folded” to emphasize the individual panels and break down the scale of the enclosure. The perforations in the panels will increase towards the top, creating a more transparent and thereby lighter panel as you move towards the sky. Entrances into the yard act as breaks in the system and are recessed.
