	All San Franciscans value fairness, and our communities are hurting from the city's budget cuts to in-home supportive services, public health clinics, and mental health programs. 230,000 residents—many seniors and low-income families—depend on Medi-Cal, and they have few or no affordable alternatives. Community programs that provide culturally competent care to Chinese and Spanish speaking patients are facing elimination. Meanwhile the cost of everyday goods is increasing, and everyone—except the wealthiest few—is feeling the strain on our pocketbooks. Prop D protects life-saving services without taxing small businesses, working families, or seniors. It raises an existing tax on only those corporations with over $1 billion in revenue whose executives earn 100 times their workers' median wage. These corporations, which profited enormously from Trump's tax breaks, can afford to chip in a little and help the rest of us. Yes on Prop D. Vincent Pan, Co-Executive Director, Chinese for Affirmative Action

	San Francisco renters have always known who gets left holding the bill. When the city needs revenue, the burden often falls on working people through cuts to the services we depend on, while corporations and executives walk away untouched. Proposition D is different. This measure does not target tenants or working families. Instead, it asks corporations with over $1 billion in revenue and executives earning 100 times their workers' pay to finally contribute their fair share. For once, the ask is going to those who can actually afford it. San Francisco can fund the essential services our communities rely on — public safety, mental health, hospitals and caregivers — without squeezing the renters and working people who make this city run. San Francisco renters and workers: vote Yes on Prop D. San Francisco Tenants Union

	San Francisco is facing a serious budget deficit — one that threatens the hospitals, mental health services, and first responders that our families and neighbors depend on. Meanwhile, executives at the city's largest corporations earn more in a single day than their workers make all year. Prop D asks those corporations to step up. Not homeowners like you and me, not small businesses or working families. Only companies with executives earning more than 100 times their median worker's salary will pay a little extra to support the city they profit from. This protects SF General Hospital, community clinics, homelessness resources, fire safety, and caregivers for seniors — the services that make this city livable. All without raising our taxes or touching our property. No new taxes on residents. No cuts to essential services. Just corporations paying their fair share. Vote YES on Proposition D. Claudia Preparata, San Francisco Homeowner

	Prop D is exactly what good fiscal policy looks like: structurally sound, carefully targeted, and fair. San Francisco's budget deficit is real and growing. Cuts to public health, mental health services, and community programs are not hypothetical — they are already happening. Proposition D addresses this crisis directly by expanding a proven mechanism; the 2020 Overpaid CEO Tax. This tax did not drive businesses out of San Francisco. The evidence is clear. Proposition D is precisely targeted. It applies exclusively to corporations with over $1 billion in revenue, more than 1,000 employees, and executives earning 100 times their median worker's salary. Small businesses, homeowners, and working families are fully exempt. Good policy solves real problems without creating new ones. Proposition D deserves your support. Vote Yes on Proposition D! Jennifer Friedenbach, Steering Committee Member, People's Budget Coalition
