Hi Dexter, this is Gabriel from The Standard. hope you are well.

I am sending in a clarifying request for some public records we have been pursuing in recent months. I believe all of this was pretty clearly spelled out in our original request, but understand that the Mayor's Office has asked for additional information.

Here is what we are looking for:

1--All text messages between Mayor Daniel Lurie and PG&E's Jake Zigelman between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.

2- A group chat — as described in a Feb. 14, 2026 SF Chronicle article — initiated by policy chief Ned Segal on the afternoon of Saturday, Dec. 20, 2025, concerning the citywide blackout and the War Memorial Opera House, which included ballet director Branislav Henselmann and to which DEM executive director Mary Ellen Carroll later added War Memorial Managing Director Kate Sofis on the morning of Sunday, Dec. 21, 2025. Please provide the contents of this group message thread from its inception through Dec. 26, 2025.

3-All emails that were sent by anyone in the mayor's office about the December blackouts between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.

Considering that we have been waiting for these documents for some time, we would appreciate production by Monday, especially of the text messages.

Thanks,

Gabriel Lorenzo Greschler

Opera house update. Our team is onsite and has been in touch with the opera folks. We've been told they have enough natural light and emergency backup power to move ahead with 2pm performance. We have a vendor mobilized to support temporary generation for the 7pm show. Not 100% on timing but working feverishly to make

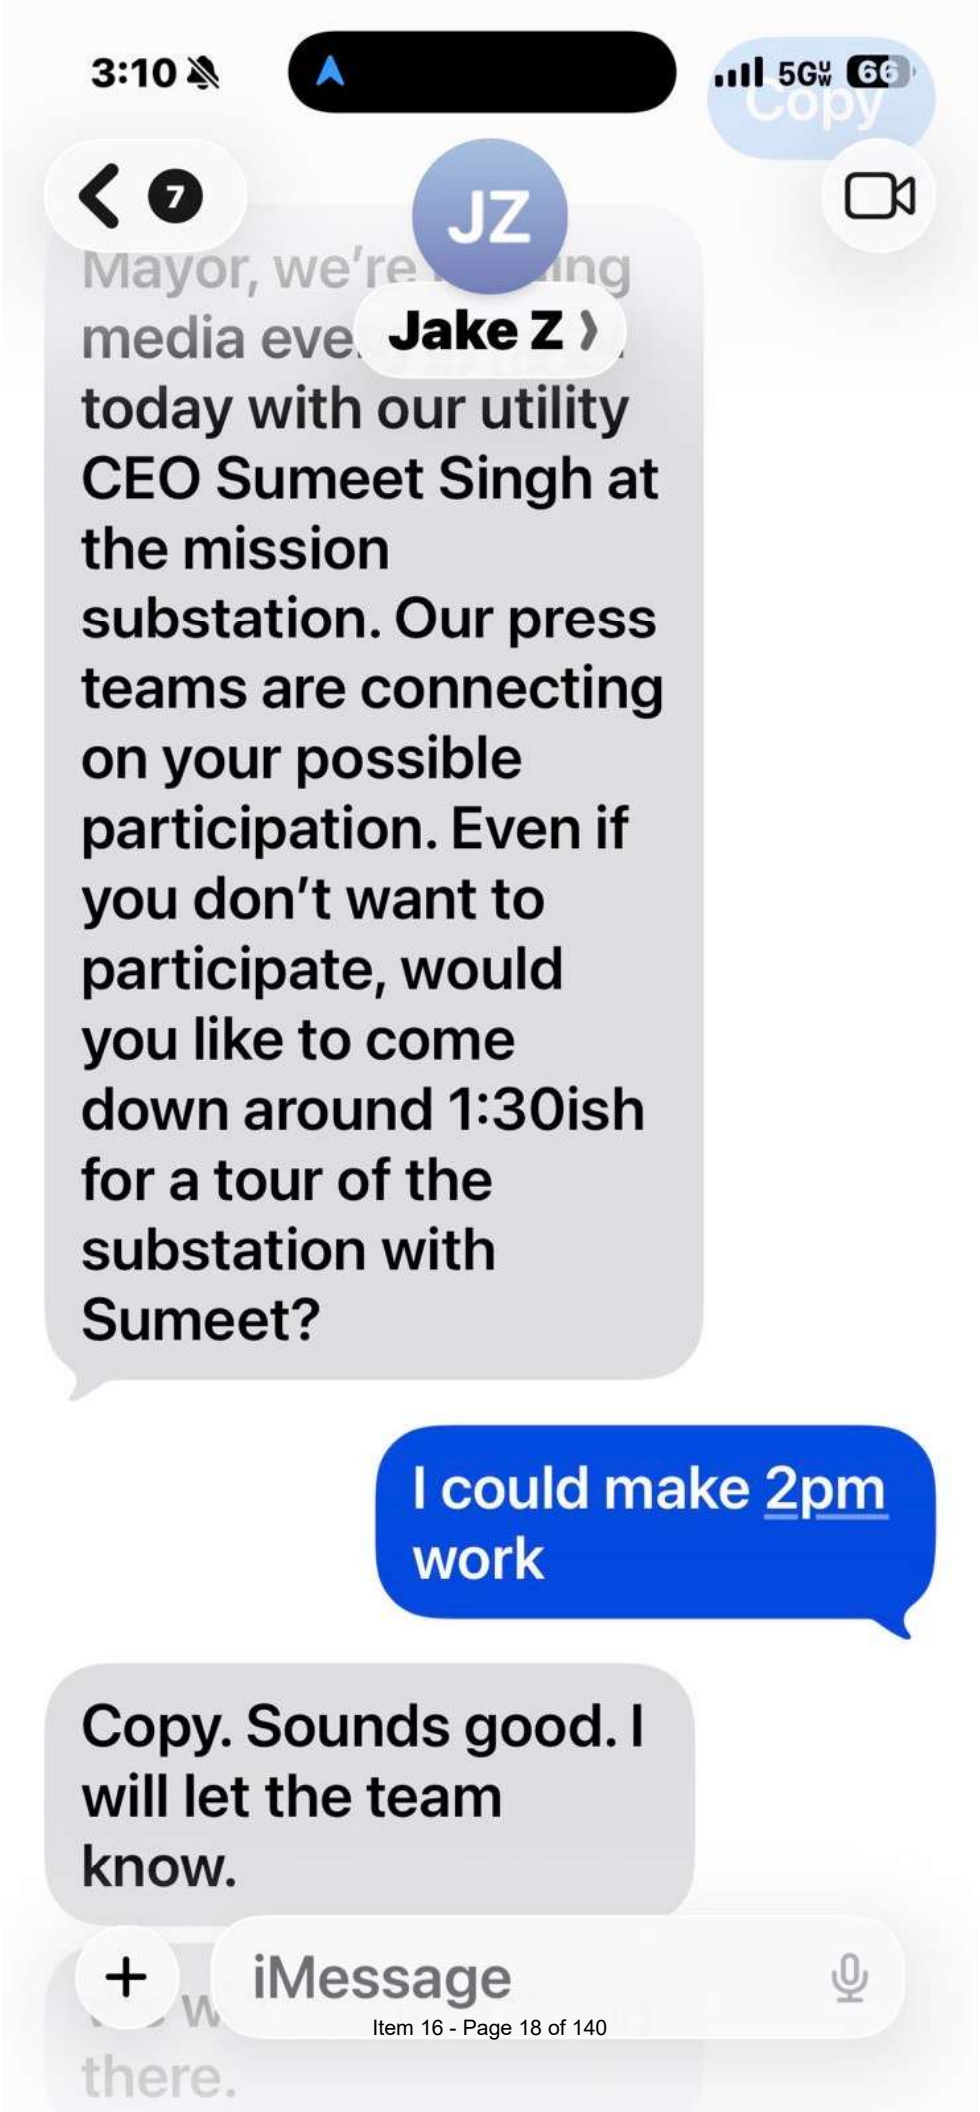

This text is not time stamped but it is almost certainly from Dec. 21, 2025, since PG&E and the mayor's office have confirmed that this is when the utility service was onsite at the opera.

Morning operational update. We were able to get temporary generation online to restore about half of the customers in the Richmond who were still impacted last night. Down to 10-11k customers still impacted on long duration outages. Working to finalize temp gen that could restore another 5-6k within the next few hours.

PG&E Announces Automatic Bill Credits for Customers Impacted by San Francisco Power Outage

Immediate financial relief — no action required — for customers affected by the December 20 outages

OAKLAND, Calif. — Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) today announced it will issue customer credits to residential and business customers affected by the power outage that occurred in San Francisco on December 20, 2025.

The intent is to provide meaningful, timely relief without requiring customers to take additional steps. In response to the outage, PG&E is making these credits available to help offset the inconvenience and disruption caused by the event. Residential customers will automatically receive a $200 bill credit, and business customers will receive an approximately $2,500 credit. Customers don't need to file a claim or take any action; credits will appear on bills as "Customer Satisfaction Adjustment." If customers choose to, they can also pursue a separate claims process for extended outages.

"We recognize the significant impact this outage had on our customers, and we are committed to providing immediate and meaningful support," said Vincent Davis, Senior Vice President and Chief Customer Officer. "We are making this as fast and easy as possible for our customers. The credits are one way we are working to restore trust and ensure our customers receive the assistance they deserve."

PG&E will also reach out directly to inform customers about the credits.

PG&E remains dedicated to the safety, reliability and well-being of the communities it serves. The company is conducting a thorough review of the outage and will continue to invest in infrastructure and response strategies to minimize future disruptions.

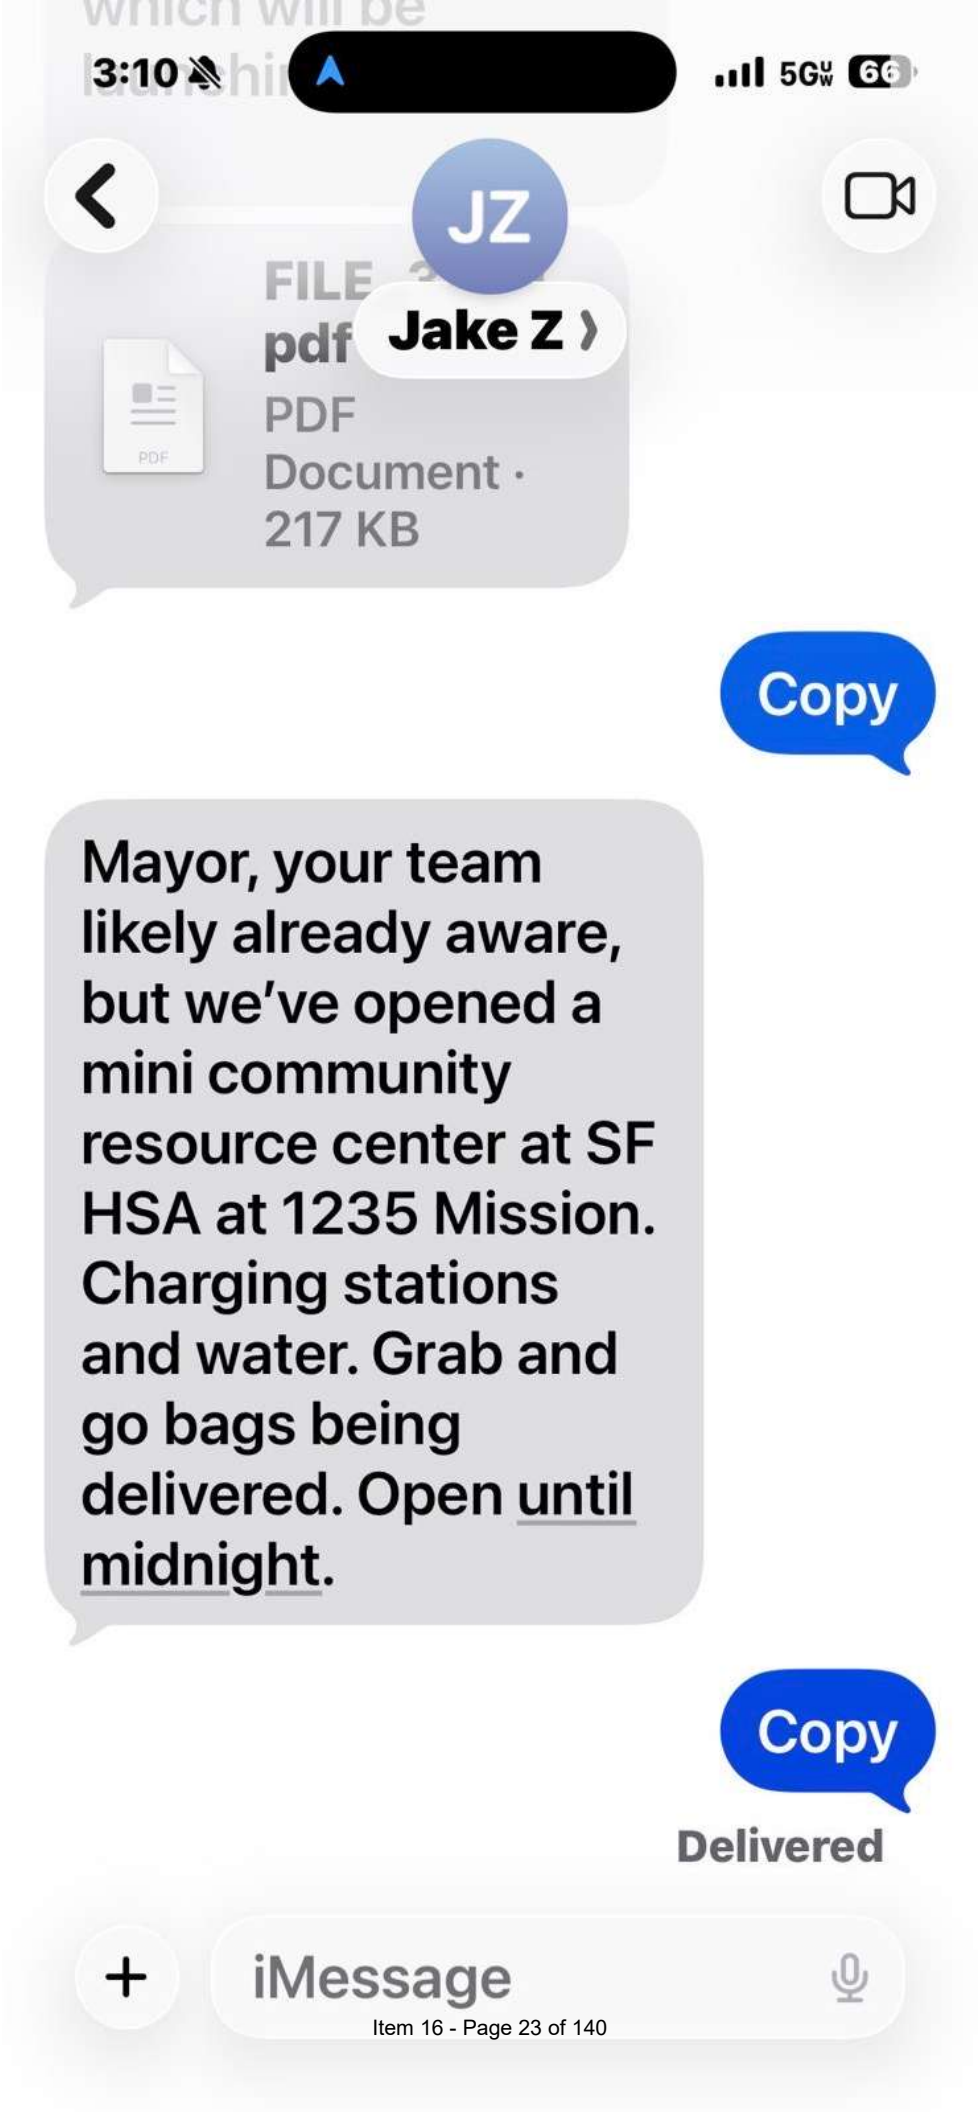

For the latest updates, customers are encouraged to visit PG&E's official website and follow the company's social media channels.

OFFICE OF THE MAYOR
SAN FRANCISCO

DANIEL LURIE
MAYOR

May 14, 2026

To: Sunshine Ordinance Task Force via electronic mail

Re: File No. 26059

Dear Sunshine Ordinance Task Force Members:

The Office of the Mayor (MYR) is writing in response to file number 26059, concerning the complaint filed by Mr. Gabe Greschler with the Sunshine Ordinance Task Force (SOTF) on April 14, 2026.

The Task Force should dismiss this complaint.

The Office of the Mayor denies the allegations, in reference to File No. 26059, that MYR violating Administrative Code (Sunshine Ordinance), Section(s) 67.21, by failing to respond to a public records request in a timely and/or complete manner.

Below is MYR's recitation of facts in this case, detailing MYR's communications with Mr. Greschler:

1. January 23, 2026: Mr. Greschler files a sunshine request with MYR seeking a variety of communications between MYR and PG&E. This follows the sunshine request of Susie Cagle, Mr. Greschler's Standard colleague, which was closed on January 20, 2026, that sought PG&E records.
2. January 27, 2026: MYR writes to Mr. Greschler that the request will be responded to within 10 days of receipt.
3. February 4, 2026: MYR invokes a 14-day extension to consult with another department.
4. February 18, 2026:
    a. MYR responds to the request with responsive documents and considers the request closed.
    b. Mr. Greschler asks if there are additional responsive documents to his request.
5. February 20, 2026: MYR writes that a diligent and reasonable search was conducted, and no outstanding documents are being withheld.
6. February 25, 2026: Davis Wright Tremaine LLP sends a letter to MYR on behalf of the Standard, claiming that documents are being improperly withheld and warns of potential litigation if additional documents that are alleged to exist are not produced.

7. March 6, 2026: Mr. Greschler files a new sunshine request with MYR seeking documents regarding PG&E, War Memorial Opera House, and the December blackouts.
8. March 9, 2026: MYR acknowledges the request and will respond within 10 days of receipt.
9. March 19, 2026: MYR responds to Mr. Greschler's March 6th request with all responsive documents. The request is considered closed.
10. May 8, 2026: MYR is notified that Mr. Greschler has filed a SOTF complaint regarding all three requests referenced above.

The Office of the Mayor responded to Mr. Greschler's request in a timely and complete manner.

This complaint involves three Sunshine requests, all of which were fully responded to and are now closed. Mrs. Cagle's January 8 request was closed on January 20. Mr. Greschler's January 23 request was closed on February 18, and his March 6 request was closed on March 19.

This complaint alleges that MYR improperly withheld text messages between Mayor Lurie and PG&E's Jake Zigelman. Mr. Greschler is using both the complaint and the Task Force to promote the false narrative that Mayor Lurie asked PG&E to prioritize restoring power to the War Memorial Opera House over residential neighborhoods. That claim is unsupported by the facts. The Standard has reviewed all responsive documents at issue and has not produced any evidence contradicting MYR's position.

Mr. Greschler also claims that The Standard has not received all responsive documents, but that claim is incorrect. MYR has provided The Standard with all documents in its possession and re-sent those materials in response to the third request, which was closed on March 19. As a result, any documents responsive to Mrs. Cagle's or Mr. Greschler's requests have been in The Standard's possession.

MYR has acted in good faith in responding to The Standard's three requests, including by continuing to work with Mr. Greschler and Mrs. Cagle after the requests had been closed. Even after receiving Davis Wright Tremaine LLP's letter threatening litigation, MYR continued engaging with The Standard to answer questions and fulfill its obligations under the Sunshine Ordinance.

For all the reasons aforementioned, the Task Force should dismiss Mr. Greschler's complaint because the Office of the Mayor has already satisfied the request in a timely and complete manner.

Thank you to the Task Force members for their time and consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,

Hi Sarah,

Staci shared your below note. We'd love to find time for an in-person meeting with Mayor Lurie on Friday, January 2. Would 9:00am or 1:00pm at City Hall be possible? I've copied Olivia for Staci's schedule and Andrea for Alicia's – they will both try to join if they are able.

Hi Staci,

Per Aaron's text, I am reaching out to request a time for a meeting with Mayor Lurie and Sumeet Singh, CEO of PG&E's utility company. The purpose of this meeting is to disuss the recovery plan from the substation fire and partnership as we create the long-term plan for grid resiliency in San Francisco. We would like to meet next week, in person if possible.

Thank you for your partnership.

Opera house update. Our team is onsite and has been in touch with the opera folks. We've been told they have enough natural light and emergency backup power to move ahead with 2pm performance. We have a vendor mobilized to support temporary generation for the 7pm show. Not 100% on timing but working feverishly to make that happen

Hello,

Closing the loop on this thread as the mayor continues to receive the latest updates from senior leadership.

We expect to restore another 10k customers within the next couple hours, primarily in the presidio and gg park areas. The remaining ~28k customers will remain out until additional damage assessments are completed and any necessary repairs. Will provide updated timing as we know more.

Thank you,

Good Evening,

Below a copy of the message that customers will receive and they will receive notification when estimated time of restoration is available. Our next call with operations is at 1800 and I will provide an update after.

“Hello, this is Pacific Gas & Electric Company calling with an important update about a large electric outage in San Francisco affecting about 130,000 customers. We are working closely with first responders and city officials to make the situation safe. We do not currently have an estimated time of restoration. We will continue to provide updates on the estimated time of restoration as crews assess the damage and make repairs. If you see a downed power line, assume it is energized and extremely dangerous. Do not touch or try to move the line and keep children and animals away. Report downed power lines immediately by calling 911. You can report and view outage information at pge.com/outages or by calling PG&E at 1-800-743-5002.”

Hi Amar,

Following up on our call, there is currently an outage at the Mission Substation impacting approximately 127,000 customers in San Francisco. Unfortunately, an additional 50,000 customers are expected to be affected.
There is a fire at the substation, and San Francisco Fire Department is on scene. At this time, we do not have an estimated restoration time. My colleague, Erica Cabrera, will provide updates as new information becomes available. Map of outage area is below.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Morning operational update. We were able to get temporary generation online to restore about half of the customers in the Richmond who were still impacted last night. Down to 10-11k customers still impacted on long duration outages. Working to finalize temp gen that could restore another 5-6k within the next few hours.

PG&E Announces Automatic Bill Credits for Customers Impacted by San Francisco Power Outage

Immediate financial relief — no action required — for customers affected by the December 20 outages

OAKLAND, Calif. — Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) today announced it will issue customer credits to residential and business customers affected by the power outage that occurred in San Francisco on December 20, 2025.

The intent is to provide meaningful, timely relief without requiring customers to take additional steps. In response to the outage, PG&E is making these credits available to help offset the inconvenience and disruption caused by the event. Residential customers will automatically receive a $200 bill credit, and business customers will receive an approximately $2,500 credit. Customers don't need to file a claim or take any action; credits will appear on bills as "Customer Satisfaction Adjustment." If customers choose to, they can also pursue a separate claims process for extended outages.

"We recognize the significant impact this outage had on our customers, and we are committed to providing immediate and meaningful support," said Vincent Davis, Senior Vice President and Chief Customer Officer. "We are making this as fast and easy as possible for our customers. The credits are one way we are working to restore trust and ensure our customers receive the assistance they deserve."

PG&E will also reach out directly to inform customers about the credits.

PG&E remains dedicated to the safety, reliability and well-being of the communities it serves. The company is conducting a thorough review of the outage and will continue to invest in infrastructure and response strategies to minimize future disruptions.

For the latest updates, customers are encouraged to visit PG&E's official website and follow the company's social media channels.

Dexter Darmali
Legislative & Ethics Secretary
Office of Mayor Daniel Lurie mayorspressoffice@sfgov.org

Re: The San Francisco Standard's Requests For Records

Dear Mr. Darmali:

This law firm represents The San Francisco Standard and its reporters Susie Cagle and Gabriel Greschler (together, "The Standard") in connection with their January 8, 2026 and January 23, 2026 requests to the Office of Mayor Daniel Lurie ("Mayor' Office") for release of public records pursuant to the California Public Records Act, Cal. Gov't Code § 7920.000 et seq. ("CPRA") and the San Francisco Sunshine Ordinance, S.F. Admin. Code § 67.21.

This letter is to draw your attention to deficiencies in the Mayor's Office's response to The Standard's public records requests which, without prompt resolution, will draw the Mayor's Office into litigation. Although it confirmed receipt of The Standard's Requests and produced some responsive records, it has yet to produce other responsive records, and on February 20, 2026, claimed its production was final.

By way of background, the Requests seek records related to the enormous blackouts that plagued San Francisco beginning on December 20, 2025. At a Board of Supervisors hearing, PG&E CEO Sumeet Singh was asked why restoring power to the San Francisco Opera House was prioritized, given that no one lived there, and other areas of the City where people who live remained without power. In response, Mr. Singh testified that Mayor Daniel Lurie had asked the utility to do so. Notably, Mayor Lurie's daughter was set to perform in a production of The Nutcracker at the opera house that weekend. The Mayor's Office has denied that Mayor Lurie asked or directed PG&E to restore power to the opera house.

Seeking to illuminate the City of San Francisco's response to the power outages, on January 8, 2026, Ms. Cagle requested the following on behalf of The Standard:[1]

[1] For reference, a copy of this request is attached hereto as Exhibit A.

- Any and all written materials and communications, including but not limited to e-mails, text messages, and any and all other correspondence and written materials between the mayor and office staff and PG&E pertaining to outages dated between December 20, 2025 and the date this request is filled.

The Mayor's Office confirmed receipt of Ms. Cagle's request on January 9, 2026 and on January 20, 2026 produced some (but not all, as explained below) responsive records.

Mr. Greschler submitted his request on behalf of The Standard on January 23, 2026 seeking the following[2]:

- All text messages between Mayor Daniel Lurie and PG&E's Jake Zigelman between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.
- All text messages between Alicia John-Baptiste and PG&E's Jake Zigelman between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.
- All emails between Mayor Daniel Lurie and PG&E's Jake Zigelman between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.
- All emails between Alicia John-Baptiste and PG&E's Jake Zigelman between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.
- All text messages between Mayor Daniel Lurie and PG&E's Patti Poppe between Dec. 19, 2025 and Jan. 23, 2025.

On February 18, 2026, the Mayor's Office produced some records responsive to the first portion of the request, for texts between Mayor Lurie and Jake Zigelman. At the same time, it claimed that "[n]o additional records were found to correspond with the other portions of your request" and closed the request. Mr. Greschler followed up the same day and pointed out that his request sought records from December 19, 2025 to December 25, 2025, but that the agency had only produced records from December 22, 2025 onwards. In response, the Mayor's Office claimed it had "conducted a diligent and reasonable search and has produced all responsive documents" and that it was not withholding any responsive records.

The Mayor's Office claim that it possesses no further responsive records simply is not credible, for multiple reasons.

First, the Mayor's Office, in response to the January 8, 2026 request, produced a text message between Mayor Lurie and PG&E Vice President Jake Zigelman likely dated December 21, 2026[3] that it failed to produce in response to the January 23, 2026 request, even though that message also was responsive to that request. Second, the Mayor's Office produced records in response to the January 23, 2026 request that it did not produce in response to the earlier request that also were responsive to that request. Third, the screenshot of the message produced in Exhibit D shows there are other messages immediately before and after the produced record which are grayed out and which have not been produced. Fourth, the produced message lacks a date stamp, which typically means the relevant parties were texting immediately before and.or after the produced message. Fifth, the Mayor's Office has not produced any communications (text messages or otherwise) showing Mayor Lurie communicating with PG&E about the Opera House before the text produced in Exhibit D, which plainly references previous correspondence, by referring to an "opera house update" (emphasis added). It simply is not credible that there are no additional communications between Mayor Lurie and Mr. Zigelman. Finally, it also is not credible that Mayor Lurie would not have been communicating with PG&E before December 22, 2026, which is the date of the earliest records the agency produced in response to the second request, and which was two days after the blackouts began.

[2] For reference, a copy of this request and the Mayor's Office response is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

[3] A copy of this record is attached here as Exhibit C.

Under these circumstances, The Standard would be entitled to seek a declaratory judgment finding the Mayor's Office violated the CPRA – and recovery of its resulting attorneys' fees and costs. See Gov't Code § 6259(d) (successful CPRA petitioner entitled to mandatory award of attorneys' fees and costs); Community Youth Athletic Center v. City of National City, 220 Cal. App. 4th 1385, 1418, 1447 (2013) (requester prevailed in CPRA action and was entitled to fee-shifting for obtaining declaratory judgment that there were search-related CPRA violations by public agency). If the Mayor's Office does not promptly produce the requested records as required by law, The Standard will seek a court order compelling disclosure. We hope that such action will not be necessary.

The Standard looks forward to receiving your response no later than 5:00 p.m. on February 27, 2026. If you have any questions, you may contact me at (415) 276-6552, or via email at thomasburke@dwt.com.

Hi Dexter, this is Gabriel from The Standard. hope you are well.

I am sending in a clarifying request for some public records we have been pursuing in recent months. I believe all of this was pretty clearly spelled out in our original request, but understand that the Mayor's Office has asked for additional information.

Here is what we are looking for:

1--All text messages between Mayor Daniel Lurie and PG&E's Jake Zigelman between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.

2- A group chat — as described in a Feb. 14, 2026 SF Chronicle article — initiated by policy chief Ned Segal on the afternoon of Saturday, Dec. 20, 2025, concerning the citywide blackout and the War Memorial Opera House, which included ballet director Branislav Henselmann and to which DEM executive director Mary Ellen Carroll later added War Memorial Managing Director Kate Sofis on the morning of Sunday, Dec. 21, 2025. Please provide the contents of this group message thread from its inception through Dec. 26, 2025.

3-All emails that were sent by anyone in the mayor's office about the December blackouts between Dec. 19, 2025 and Dec. 25, 2025.

Considering that we have been waiting for these documents for some time, we would appreciate production by Monday, especially of the text messages.

Hi Dexter, thank you for the reply.

I have a couple of questions about this production:

- The records you provided show text messages between Mayor Lurie and Jake Zigelman from Dec. 22, 2025 onwards. But the records I asked for date back to Dec. 19, 2025, meaning that multiple days are missing from this production. Why is it that these records were not produced?
- Do you plan on producing the records that date back to Dec. 19, 2025?
- Are you withholding any records subject to exemptions, and if so, can you identify those exemptions?

I would appreciate a response within the next day or two considering you already made a 14 day extension to this request.

Thanks,

Could you please provide more complete identifying information for the text message with "Jake Z"? Who is the sender and the recipient of this text?

I also want to clarify that my request was for communications through the date the request was filled, which would be January 20, 2026. The most recent document in the binder is dated January 1, 2026. Would you confirm that the mayor's office has had no written communication with PG&E since January 1? Or would you consider reopening and researching for additional documents?

Thanks so much for your help.

I spoke with my client yesterday and learned that he provided additional information about the Mayor's texts as was requested.

It's now Thursday and he's still awaiting new records from the Mayor's Office.

I understand that the office is again insisting on an additional 10 days to provide responsive records. This does not seem remotely reasonable. The responsive records were requested weeks ago. It would literally take 5 minutes to produce them.

Please let me know if anything can be done to speed this process along.

Alleged Violation	Public Records
Sunshine Ordinance Section:	S.F. Admin. Code §§ 67.21(a), 67.21(b), 67.25(a), and 67.29-1; Cal. Gov't Code §§ 7920.530, 7922.000. The Mayor's Office failed to produce responsive public records — specifically, text messages between Mayor Daniel Lurie and PG&E Vice President Jake Zigelman from December 20–21, 2025 — despite evidence from the Mayor's Office's own prior production that these records exist. The Mayor's Office repeatedly represented that no responsive records were being withheld and that it had conducted a diligent and reasonable search, statements contradicted by the documentary evidence. The Mayor's Office has failed to comply with three separate requests for the same records over a period of nearly four months.
	Since December 2025, The San Francisco Standard has been pursuing public records from the Office of Mayor Daniel Lurie seeking text messages between Mayor Lurie and PG&E Vice President Jake Zigelman from December 19 through December 25, 2025. These records relate to the mayor's communications with PG&E during the December 2025 blackouts, which left tens of thousands of San Francisco residents without power for days during one of the coldest weeks of the year, disrupting homes, businesses, and critical services across the city. The blackouts and the government's response to them are a matter of significant public interest, particularly given testimony by PG&E CEO Sumeet Singh that Mayor Lurie

Please describe alleged violation	directed the utility on Dec. 21, 2025, to prioritize restoring power to the War Memorial Opera House over residential areas where people were still without electricity. Mr. Singh later retracted that claim, but the underlying communications between the mayor and PG&E remain a matter of urgent public concern. The public has a right to know what its mayor was communicating to the utility company while large swaths of the city sat in the dark. The Mayor's Office has failed to produce all responsive records and has made representations that are contradicted by the evidence. In an initial request submitted in December 2025, a Standard reporter requested all communications between the mayor's office and PG&E pertaining to the outages. In response, the Mayor's Office produced a single text message between Mayor Lurie and Jake Zigelman, likely dated December 21, 2025, in which Zigelman provides the mayor an "opera house update" — language that plainly references prior correspondence. The correspondence is an iMessage thread, and the way an iPhone screenshot captures a text conversation, prior and subsequent messages in the thread are partially visible above and below the focal message — confirming that other messages in the Lurie-Zigelman thread exist. Despite this clear evidence of additional messages, the Mayor's Office has never produced them. On January 23, 2026, Standard reporter Gabriel Greschler submitted a more specific request seeking all text messages between Mayor Lurie and Zigelman from December 19 through December 25, 2025. The request began on December 19 — the day before the blackouts started — to ensure complete capture of any relevant communications. The Mayor's Office invoked a 14-day extension and on February 18, 2026, produced text messages beginning only on December 22, 2025 — omitting the entire period from December 19 through December 21, which encompasses the start of the blackout and the critical period of the mayor's communications with PG&E. When Mr. Greschler pointed out that the production was incomplete, the Mayor's Office claimed on February 20, 2026 that it had "conducted a diligent and reasonable search and has produced all responsive documents" and that it was not withholding any responsive records. This claim is not credible. The Mayor's Office's own prior production proves that Mayor Lurie and Zigelman were communicating on December 21, 2025 — yet no records from that date or the preceding day were produced. On February 24, 2026, The Standard's counsel at Davis Wright Tremaine LLP sent a formal demand letter to the Mayor's Office detailing the deficiencies in its production and requesting a response by February 27, 2026. The mayor's office responded by asking The Standard to submit an additional request asking for the same records. On March 6, 2026, Mr. Greschler submitted a further clarifying request that again specifically sought text messages between Mayor Lurie and Zigelman from December 19 through December 25, 2025. On March 19, 2026, the Mayor's Office responded but again did not produce the missing text messages from December 20–21, 2025, and again stated that no documents were being withheld. The Mayor's Office has consistently failed to produce text messages that its own prior disclosures prove exist. This pattern of incomplete production and false representations that no records are being withheld violates the San Francisco Sunshine Ordinance and the California Public Records Act.

PG&E CEO recants claim that Lurie requested power to opera house during blackout

At a hearing, Sumeet Singh said the mayor pushed for power at the arts venue where his daughter was due to perform.

A text message shows Mayor Daniel Lurie getting an update from a PG&E representative about the opera house during the blackout. | Manuel Orbegozo for The Standard

On the afternoon of Dec. 21, one day after a blackout plunged a third of San Francisco into darkness, City Hall and many of the surrounding blocks remained without power.

But the stage lights were on at the War Memorial Opera House on Van Ness Avenue, where San Francisco Ballet performances of “The Nutcracker” were set to be staged at 2 p.m. and 7 p.m.

The mystery of why that venue received special attention from Pacific Gas & Electric while swaths of the city were still in the dark was partially answered Thursday at a Board of Supervisors hearing, when PG&E CEO Sumeet Singh testified that Mayor Daniel Lurie had asked the utility to restore power at the opera house. However, the CEO later recanted those statements in an interview with The Standard.

ADVERTISEMENT

Not mentioned at the hearing: The mayor's teenage daughter, Taya Lurie, was cast in the starring role of Clara at the matinee performance that Sunday.

During stunning testimony before the Board's Public Safety Committee, Supervisor Bilal Mahmood asked Singh why the utility had chosen to help the arts venue while so many other San Francisco sites were without power.

"You prioritized the opera, where no one is living, to restore service, before you prioritized restoring service in communities and seniors living in [single room occupancies]," said Mahmood.

"We did not make that decision on our own accord," Singh replied. "We were requested by the mayor to provide temporary generation to that specific location. And we responded to that."

Singh said 10% of affected PG&E customers were still experiencing blackouts when the mayor made his request. The outages were caused by a fire at a PG&E substation on Eighth and Mission streets.

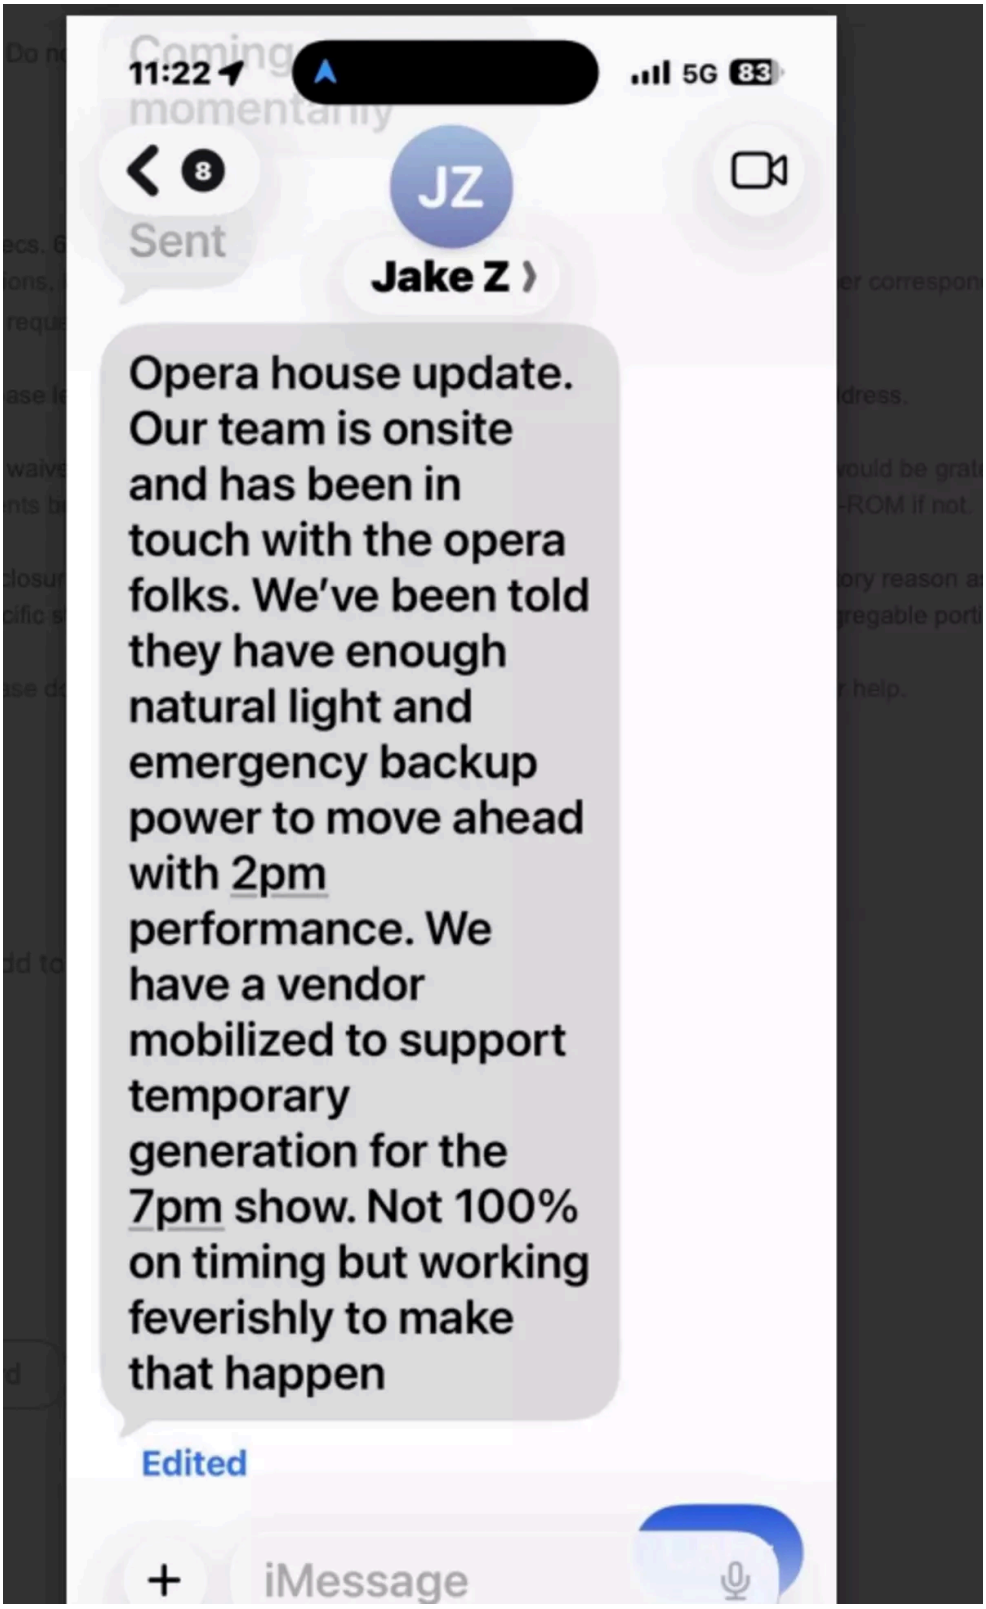

Questions about why PG&E prioritized the opera house began after the utility posted on X a picture of two of its trucks outside the venue at approximately 2 p.m. on Dec. 21.

That's the exact time that the mayor's teenage daughter, Taya Lurie, was cast in the starring role of Clara at a matinee performance. According to Amy Ovalle, an SF Ballet spokesperson, emergency backup power kept the show running. Weekend performances of "The Nutcracker" can generate more than $450,000 in ticket sales, according to the ballet.

A text message obtained by The Standard through a public records request shows that Lurie received an update from a PG&E representative about the opera house during the blackout.

"Opera house update," Jake Zigelman, PG&E's bay region VP, wrote to Lurie. "Our team is onsite and has been in touch with the opera folks. We've been told they have enough natural light and emergency backup power to move ahead with 2pm performance. We have a vendor mobilized to support temporary generation for the 7pm show. Not 100% on timing but working feverishly to make that happen."

A text message from PG&E representative Jake Zigelman sent to Mayor Daniel Lurie about the opera.

Zigelman did not respond to a request for comment.

On the day that Lurie received the text message from Zigelman, much of the Richmond and parts of the Tenderloin remained without power. On Dec. 22, a sign was posted outside City Hall stating that the building remained closed. Just blocks away, on Market Street, the NEMA high-rise tower did not regain power until Dec. 23, as residents dealt with cut elevator service and darkened hallways.

Lurie to spend $34M to protect thousands of SF's Medi-Cal recipients from Trump's cuts

The mayor's office disputed Singh's statement.

"For days through the blackout, Mayor Lurie personally pushed PG&E to restore power across San Francisco as quickly as possible," the mayor's spokesperson, Charles Lutvak, wrote to The Standard. "The holiday season is an especially critical period for our major venues and cultural institutions, supporting small businesses and generating significant revenue for the city, so of course city leaders were communicating directly with those institutions and PG&E to help scheduled performances for tens of thousands of attendees proceed."

He added, "But to be clear, the mayor never directed any PG&E employee to provide power at any specific venue — and the San Francisco Ballet didn't even have PG&E support until after the weekend."

When asked about the timing of the mayor's daughter's performance, Lurie's office deferred to its statement.

PG&E spokesperson David McCulloch said the utility was "constantly in touch" with city officials during the blackout. "As a significant venue hosting several major events over the weekend, the opera house was one of the facilities highlighted. However, we want to clarify that the mayor did not ask or direct PG&E to restore power to the opera house."

McCulloch declined to comment on the text message Zigelman sent to Lurie, saying that "our team was communicating updates to numerous city leaders throughout the restoration."

In an interview with Singh after publication, the company's CEO called his remarks a "misunderstanding."

"I thought there was a specific request from the mayor's office," he said. "There was not a specific request. That was my misunderstanding because of all the communication that went back and forth. So that was misstated in the hearing."

In a statement, the Department of Emergency Management's executive director, Mary Ellen Carroll, said she "passed along a request from the War Memorial Opera House leadership to PG&E to provide temporary generators." Carroll said it was "not our top priority nor was it communicated to PG&E as such."

PG&E CEO Sumeet Singh said at a public hearing Thursday that Lurie requested that the opera house receive priority during the blackout. | Hearst Newspapers via Getty Images

After questioning Singh about the opera house during the hearing, Mahmood professed to be dismayed by the utility chief's response. "During a four-hour hearing with PG&E, their CEO gave inconsistent answers and repeatedly deflected blame instead of taking responsibility," the supervisor said in a statement. "After hearing those contradictions, I find it difficult to trust their claims."

As the blackout continued in December, Lurie publicly expressed anger toward PG&E.

"I'll be pressing them very hard, because this is obviously not OK," Lurie told The Standard on Dec. 21, as he was making a visit to the Richmond Recreation Center. “We’ll get to the bottom of that in the next day or two, I hope.”

On Dec. 22, Lurie posted a video on his Instagram, stating that he would engage in “real honest” conversation with PG&E about the blackout. At the time of the morning post, 5,000 customers remained without power, he said.

The revelations about the opera house come as supervisors on Thursday criticized the utility company’s response to the blackout, which left 130,000 residents without power beginning Dec. 20. The incident caused chaos across the city, as stoplights went dark, Waymos stalled, and underground Muni lines were closed.

As criticisms bubble up over the blackout, the perennial conversation about San Francisco transitioning to public power has reignited. In December, state Sen. Scott Wiener said he would introduce legislation to have San Francisco and other cities break up with PG&E.

In the meantime, an ongoing petition by the city to the California Public Utilities Commission is establishing the value of PG&E’s electric assets in San Francisco. The city’s planning department is conducting an environmental analysis surrounding its public power efforts, and a final version of the report is expected in April. Any efforts to take over PG&E’s equipment are likely to meet with stiff resistance from the utility.
